

I hope this letter finds you well. I am humbled and honored to serve as President of the Association of Community College Facilities Operations (ACCFO), I am reaching out to share some important updates regarding our ongoing efforts to support facilities operations professionals across community colleges.

The role that facilities operations professionals play in maintaining and enhancing the learning environment at community colleges is vital. From ensuring that our campuses remain safe and accessible to managing sustainability initiatives and emergency preparedness, our members are committed to providing the infrastructure that enables students, faculty, and staff to thrive.

As part of ACCFO, we continue to promote best practices, foster collaboration, and provide essential resources to those in our field. We are also excited about the upcoming ACCFO Annual Conference, where members will have the opportunity to share insights, learn from one another, and explore the latest trends shaping our industry.

I want to personally invite you to engage with ACCFO by attending this conference and exploring how our organization can support your institution's goals. Whether it's through professional development, networking, or simply staying informed about industry changes, we are here to be a resource to you and your team.

If you have any questions or would like to learn more about our association, please do not hesitate to contact the organization at info@ncaccfo.org. We are always happy to discuss how ACCFO can assist your community college in achieving its facilities management objectives.

Thank you for your dedication to the critical work of facilities operations. I look forward to the next two years as your President. Thanks to all of you for the opportunity to lead this great Organization.

God Bless,
Steven Garner
